

Sue B. Adams Leadership Award Nomination

At the 2010 AAPASS Annual Conference in honor of Dr. Sue Adams in recognition of her retirement, the Sue B. Adams Leadership Award was established to be given at our yearly conference to an outstanding AAPASS member. Dr. Adams was a pioneer in the area of Prevention and Support with the Alabama State Department of Education. Her expertise, concern, and knowledge of student safety, attendance and discipline, dropout prevention, and discovering ways to help all students and especially those considered “at-risk” will be remembered for years by those who have been fortunate enough to work with her and know her. Please use this form to nominate a person deserving of this award.

Qualifications:

- Nominee must be a current member of CLAS and AAPASS.
- Only members of CLAS and AAPASS can nominate a person for this award.
- Evidence should be shown to indicate nominees’ active participation in AAPASS state organization, AAPASS local organization, and service to their school district and/or school.

Selection:

- The AAPASS Executive Committee will select the top three nominees from the nominations submitted.
- The AAPASS Second Vice President will distribute ballots to AAPASS membership and calculate votes to determine the winner.
- The winner will be announced at the AAPASS annual conference.
