The Leadership Institute Seminar:

Empathy in Instruction: Strategies for Working with English Language Learners

Presenter: Tery Medina

Being an English Language Learner in the classroom can be a very overwhelming experience for students, regardless of age. Therefore, it is important for educators to build an atmosphere that fosters a safe and empathetic environment for their ELL students. In this institute, Tery Medina will take participants on a journey to explore myths and facts of teaching English Language Learners, clarify responsibilities as well as empathy in serving these students, and use content, process, and product, to build a framework for what works. Come ready to participate, co-create, and grow your wealth of knowledge and strategies.

Virtual Institute Offered in Three One-Hour Sessions
